

Cynthia Middleton

July 5, 1968 - November 9, 2016

Cynthia “Cindy” Blackshear-Middleton of Brooklyn, New York was called home to glory on November 9, 2016. She was born to Jesse Lee Blackshear Sr., and Marie Blackshear on July 5, 1968 in Brooklyn, New York. She attended New York City public schools: P.S 150, JHS 263, and Williams H. Maxwell where she received her high school diploma.

“Cindy”, what many of her family and friends called her, resided in the Brownsville houses (Van Dyke) for many years. She met a great deal of friends, where she joined a dance group called the “SHOW-STOPPERS”. Cindy loved going to different areas with the group to show off her talent. Cindy enjoyed watching the ID channel, working, and attending family gatherings. She enjoyed going to the Poconos and Atlantic City with her co-workers. She also enjoyed spending time with her children Laqueisha, Keith Jr., and her grandson Jason Jr. as she would call him “Stinky face”. She occupied her free time spending it with her parents and her siblings. At an early age, she found her career working at Urban Strategies Inc. where she worked for 23 years until she became ill.

Cindy leaves behind to cherish her precious memories: Two children: Laqueisha Jackson and Keith Middleton Jr., One grandchild: Jason Parris Jr., her husband: Keith Middleton Sr., her mother and father: Jesse and Marie Blackshear, six sisters and five brothers: Denise Bell, Raymond Ancrum Sr.,

Clifford Ancrum Sr., Renee Blackshear, Jesse Blackshear Jr., Tomeka Blackshear, Elaine Martin, Lorraine Martin, Monique Wheeler, and Jefferey Johnson. Two Goddaughters: Tanasia Kingsberry and Najaah Reid. A host of aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces, nephews, and friends.

Cindy was preceded in death by her brother Leon Martin and aunt/Godmother Betty Magwood.
