

Daisy Walker

January 22, 1915 - October 15, 2008

Daisy Sylvia Walker was born in Jamaica, West Indies in 1915. She was the youngest of seven children of James and Emily Wright.

In 1936 she married Bertram Walker and they had nine children. When her husband, Bertram, passed away prematurely, Daisy was left with the responsibility of single-handedly raising five young school-age children.

In 1967 she charted a new course in her life and migrated to the United States to seek better economic and educational opportunities. Her strength, resilience and adventurous spirit enabled her to adapt to the new culture and she persevered in overcoming the hardships she faced. She succeeded in achieving a comfortable life for herself and her children.

In spite of the demands of her busy life, Daisy managed to find the time to enjoy her two favorite activities: attending championship Wrestling at Madison Square Garden and the annual Mother's Day Caribbean Music Concerts.

To this blessed mother, grandmother and great grandmother, we give thanks to the Lord, for His loving grace and mercy in bringing her to this final day He has chosen.

Daisy's philosophy of casting her bread upon the water was literal as well as figurative. She helped those around her in the face of their greatest adversity, in turn imparting this valuable gift to all of us. Now at the time of his choosing the Lord, has made her come home to this loving grace.
