“ Uncle Lonzo I still can't believe this is happening it's all so surreal. You were my MacGyver, I remember driving down the Southern State Highway and the hood of my dodge Omni flew up and I hear you and mommy you saying you got it, you got it and mommy saying what in the world lol 😂 We pulled over and you took off your belt and tied that hood down and got us home. I also remember how funny you were , on Beach Channel Drive you would come over and knock on the wall and say come here you hear that? I would say no and you would say I know it's been like that all day and fall out laughing 😂. There are just so many stories I could share. I just know that you are now with the ones you love on the other side. Save some room for us and give mommy a kiss for me. I love you always, Brenda.
