

Jerry Armstrong

December 15, 1964 - June 18, 2011

Jerry Armstrong was called home on June 18, 2011 by his father Jessie and his sister Frankie. He was born to Eugenia and Jessie Armstrong. He was born in Brooklyn, New York at Brooklyn Hospital on December 15, 1964. Jerry's life was shaped by deep beliefs of family, friends and community.

He was educated by the New York City Public School System and attained an Associate's Degree in Welding. Jerry was affectionately known as Joe. He had a love of culinary arts, music, and sports. His love for his community moved him to participate in annual barbecues for Father's Day. Joe was a devoted New York Knicks and New York Mets fan. He rejoiced that New York basketball is back after acquiring Carmelo Anthony. He was also peculiar about his grooming. He loved to look put together and expected the same from others.

Joe was a friendly and kind-hearted man. He had a smile so wide that even when you were down and out, just look at his smile and you will laugh. He was preceded in death by his father Jessie, his sister Frankie, and nephew Germaine. He leaves to mourn his memory; his mother, Eugenia; son, Erickeith; girlfriend, Xiomana; four brothers: Jimmy, Alton (Cleo), Terry, and James; three nieces: Sediqua, Julie, and Ashley; one nephew, Pharoah; one great nephew Mondo; three great nieces: Mainkiya, Ga-Ga, and Londyn; and a host of aunts, uncles, other relatives, and friends.
