“ No one will ever know how much my grandmother meant to me. She was my world. Yesterday I broken down and cried on the bus on the way to work. I was expecting to get her phone call, like she would normally do, asking me how my day was going and filling me in on the neighborhood gossip. But there was no call. She is truly just in my memories. I wished that she would have peace, and now she has it, but I feel so sad and alone. She will be missed everyday and never forgotten. How do I repay the woman who saved my life?

“ Estimada Familia,

Sintiendo mucho su dolorosa perdida. La muerte de verdad que indiscriminadamente nos afecta a todos. Yo se que quizás no haya palabras que les alivie su pena, pero si conozco unos textos bíblicos que han ayudado a muchas personas en tiempos de angustia. El fiel Job experimento perdidas como las que un humano nunca debería pasar, perdio todas sus pertinencias, sus bienes, y mas importante todos sus hijos y hijas. Aun así note la esperanza que el tenia firme en su corazón, la cual también todos tenemos el derecho de abrigar. El se pregunto en Job 14:14,15, "Si un hombre fisicamente capacitado muere, ¿puede volver a vivir? Todos los días de mi trabajo obligatorio esperare, hasta que llegue mi relevo. Tu llamas, y yo mismo respondere. Por la obra de tus manos sentiras anhelo."

Aunque Job nunca escucho sobre Jesus, nosotros si conocemos lo que el Hijo de Dios hizo por todos nosotros. El dio su alma en rescate por todos, y el resultado es que ahora tenemos la esperanza de volver a ver a nuestros seres queridos si ejercemos fe en su sacrificio. Si es realidad, lo dice la biblia and Juan 5:28,29.

*Sinceramente,
