“ patience oh how I miss you. I will never forget the day I heard about the news. Another teacher had to escort me outside of the classroom because of how badly I cried. I couldn't stop. till this day I still question why? till this day I am still ,grieving from your lost. My sweet girl, I wish I would've told you sooner how grateful I was for you. For you being my first friend at a new school and making me feel so comfortable. I hope you're still watching me from above & covering me with your light. I love you always & you'll never leave my mind for as long as life goes. continue to rest my unicorn 🦄

“ Its been 5 years and i think about you every day. I wish i could've gone to your funeral, say goodbye but i couldn't but i promise i'll visit you, you and dennen. You 2 were the best of us. I wrote a song about you, i never finished it though and i wouldnt have the confidence to sing it anyway, but my friend said it was fine so cool. I Blamed myself for your death, i thought if i was a better friend, if i had helped you get into 5th grade you wouldnt have gotten hit by that bus.. Stupid i know but i've done alot of stupid things that ive regret, things i'll still hate myself for a long time but being your friend is something i'll never regret. I don't know if we would've still been close as we got older but i would have prefered that then you leaving. I'll always keep you in my heart and ill try to have patience.....sorry bad joke.
