“ The best person I’ve ever known in my life. I remember when we were younger and use to go to the movie theaters and sneak into all the movies by just paying for one! We would drench our popcorn in butter because it was so good. We use to play the little arcade games and try to win beat headphones. I remember us sneaking into the movie “in time” which turned out to be your favorite movie. Now when I see the cover or think about it , it remind me of her. I can’t even watch the movie because I just picture us in the last row in the movie theater with you laughing and completely getting into it. Funny how we only ended up in that movie because 1 is your friends was scared of paranormal activity so you decided to be with them instead of watching the movie we came to see. That’s exactly why you’re always going to be the very absolute best genuine person
