“ Ray-

There is no right way to say goodbye. It only makes it so much harder for me to say goodbye, when I don't want to. We haven't seen each other in so long but it wasn't so long ago we spoke. Being pregnant and in school was so stressful but you still reached out to me to give me confidence. You always tried to bring everyone around you up, even when you felt down. I remember seeing you in the neighborhood always smiling around everyone, and when we would speak one on one realizing how much you kept things on the inside. You would look at me and say how much we were alike and we would talk about our horoscope signs. I wish that I would have had that coffee we spoke about, so we could catch up because there was so much I wanted to tell you, that I won't be able to ever tell you now. I won't be able to walk out my house and see the boy waving at me with a huge smile from across the street. I am so proud of the man you became, I'm just so sad that in the process of us both going to school and growing up, we lost touch. I'll always remember us running through the rain at night getting soaked, us sitting on the sidewalk under the street lamp with our smokes and a beer having one of our many talks. How you would talk so fast and wave your hands as you talked and I would have to speak over you to get a word in haha. I'll always hold on to all the memories we have shared and cherish them forever. You were one of the greatest people I know, someone I could talk to and trust to never judge me. I'll miss you forever and for me this won't be a goodbye. I'll see you again later in el cielo ♡

“ I am in disbelief. This is unfair. I'm so sorry this happened Ray. I'm

“ Dear Ray

I am heartbroken over the news of you leaving us. You was my little cousin but we grew up more as siblings on the same house.

Me, you, Jackie, Angelica, Izzy and Nelson. I'm still in disbelief that you're gone. You was such a smart joyful person. I will forever miss you. I regret not reaching out to as much as I should've. I miss I had more time with you. Until we meet again. Love you always

“ Ray,

Since I met you, you have and will always be my babybird. Your infectious laugh would shine a light on any dark day. Your voice would always catch my attention and stand out from those around. Your cute waddle when you walk matched you lovely and enduring personality. You were the joy I came home to for 5 years, always smiling as I came thru the door, always ready to spend time together. You brought me out of my funky moods with ur smile and playful nature.

I'm sorry that I failed you, you were my everything for so long and I failed to protect you and keep you safe. I will miss you so so very much, but I will never forget you.

You are a beautiful soul and the world is a darker place without you, my babybird. I will love and adore you always&forever.

“ My baby brother I can just see memories of us riding our bikes up and down the block as kids or how you smile with a half smile all the time, how giving you are, so smart and so talented. Or our talks till sun up you weren't just my brother you were my best friend we always said we were practically twins but you were the brains and I was the popular one, I love you with all my heart and never in a million years did I think it would come to this, I love you forever and always and I will never forget our movie and how Alice always had to be strong when her brother passed and you would always call me alice and said I had to be strong like her but I never knew this is what you meant or was preparing me for or why that movie stuck to us, I love you ray so much and I miss you!!!!

“ My son, my beautiful one and only son. You took my heart when you left this world. Your time here was cut short, I feel cheated. Your smile is what captured all of our hearts, you were lost but your true spirit of you are will never leave. You live on with every memory o have of you. God blessed me with you, I thank him every day I was there for your 1st step, first day of school. I saw you come into this world and shared your moments of happiness and sorrow and with heavy heart I have to see you leave this earth. How fortunate am I above all to be chosen to be your mother. I can't live without you.....one day we will be together again. Until then my son, wait for me.

*Love you forever
Mommy*
